No Flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the Stars of a Union undivided and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 2[illegible], 1865.

Brilliant Financiering.

It seems that, having counseled with the wise men of Lane, the Judge of that county has concluded to tender to the State Treasurer other greenbacks for the ones now deposited against her State taxes due for 1863, and thereby try to evade the spirit of the law by a compliance with what they imagine is its letter. Lane county is Union to excess, loyal to the very essence of its imaginings, and it imagines that it is fulfilling a three-fold mission when it insists upon forcing the State to accept treasury notes in full satisfaction for taxes levied on property that was assessed at not on an average, probably, over three-fourths of its actual coin value. First, it enunciates its loyalty; second, it vents its spite; and third, the amiable county has its own way—that is, should it succeed in defrauding the remaining counties of Oregon out of at least half of that portion of the State revenue due from Long Tom and the Forks of the Willamette. Now we admire loyalty in the main; we go our pile upon it as a vital principle, and we welcome it in any sense, except repudiation; and if the rumor that reaches us is correct, and Lane county, true to her obstinacy of the past, persists in such a course as we have indicated, we have our opinion of the matter and shall freely exercise the privilege of expressing it. A factious spirit of mischief and discontent can as easily be cloaked in the pretence of loyalty as in any other garb, and when the majority has decided upon adopting as a public policy a measure which works hardships to none, while no other could possibly answer the general need without embarrassing State affairs throughout, it is, to say the least of it, contemptible quibbling and pettifogging for one isolated county to say nay, and attempt to repudiate, not only the statute, but its own liability in good part to bear the expenses of the State. It seems that many citizens of Lane county, including an Ex-Governor and members and ex-members of the Legislature, have applied to Judge Stratton for a mandamus to compel the Sheriff to receive their taxes in treasury notes. They say a man is known by the company he keeps, and just perceive how "high-toned" the loyalty of Lane is becoming, when a real, live, used-to-be Governor—though it is not stated of what State or Territory—is joined with the denizens of Lane in this loyal Union league to force greenbacks upon the State Treasury at par.

Really we are becoming so enamored with the high tone of the association that we don't half like to oppose it. After all it would not matter so much—some of our Judges may have to resign, or else walk their circuits from pecuniary inability to ride. Other officers might find it inconvenient to pass greenbacks at par, but they have a privilege left to resign also. Those whom the State owes might whistle for the better part of their pay, and it would be, to say the least, ludicrous to hear the curses that would follow. That "Governor" may be a live meat affair, though we are incredulous upon that score. Does he own a violin and is he musical? Has he tuned up the sounding catgut and charmed the people of the Forks and on the Long Tom into imagining that legal tenders mean loyalty? Indeed we much expect that he has. We might argue the matter at great length with Lane county, but we despair. They have an idea and intend to run it down before they leave it, and they evidently mean to turn an honest—or at least a legal penny by the operation. As for the remainder of the State we don't expect it to repudiate yet awhile, and the argument would be therefore unnecessary.

Sanitary Contributions of the Pacific Coast.—We find in the first number of Gazlay's Pacific Monthly, just come to hand, the following list of contributions received from the Pacific coast, by the U. S. Sanitary Commission, to Dec. 1st, 1864:

California	$1,030,402 73
Oregon	64,131 02
Nevada Territory	95,761 01
Washington Territory	20,449 92
Idaho "	6,301 31
Colorado "	1,025 00
Vancouver's Island	2,195 61
Total	$1,219,886 60

GEO. T. STRONG,
Treasurer U. S. Sanitary Commission.

Divisions of Idaho Territory.—The people of Lewiston having come to the conclusion that the capital of Idaho would certainly be at Boise City, have concluded to try for a division of Idaho and Washington, and the creation of a new Territory out of Northern Idaho and Eastern Washington so they appointed Commissioners to visit Walla Walla and get the people there to further this project, but the people of Walla Walla held a meeting and adopted resolutions favoring the addition of Northern Idaho to the Territory of Washington as, after quite a discussion, they came to the conclusion that the "claim country" was too good a thing for them to tear themselves away from.

Later from Owyhee.—A reliable party whose judgment is to be depended on, writing to a friend in this city a private letter, says that the ledges being worked there this winter have developed most astonishingly. The Calaveras Ledge has widened to seven feet of rich rock. The Home Ticket is now seven feet wide and a big thing. Eureka at forty feet down is five feet wide and fully equal to the Morning Star; and other ledges are showing well, while the earlier known ledges have sustained themselves fully. As he is experienced in quartz at Washoe, Reese River and Humboldt, his judgment is of undoubted value.

Santiam Mines.—We are informed that placer diggings have been worked for some little time past in the Cascade mountains on the waters of the Santiam in the vicinity of the principal quartz ledges heretofore discovered. For awhile they are said to have paid but two dollars per day, but of late have improved in yield to four dollars per day, and a piece weighing ten dollars has been taken out. Such results argue well for the future both of the placer diggings and quartz ledges on the Santiam.

From China.—The total loss of Her Britanic Majesty's dispatch boat Racehorse occurred on the North China Coast on the 4th of November last. Mistaking the harbor of Chefoo for Tung Mun, the vessel went ashore and was washed to pieces by the heavy seas. There were one hundred and eight person on board, of whom the captain and six others were saved.

Letter from Eugene City.

Eugene City, Jan. 17, 1865.

Editor Oregonian:

Thus far of this month has proved a great improvement in the way of weather. To-day the sun is shining brightly and warm, and plows are running briskly, making ready for "seed-time and harvest," which we have promise shall never fail.

The all-absorbing topic of discussion here now is the tax question. Last year this county received greenbacks and tendered same to State Treasurer, but they were refused. The County Judge has received a manuscript copy of an act of relief for this and other counties (though no such act appears to have been published.) It recites that this county tendered "Treasury Notes," which were refused, and gives 90 days to pay the State "in other money of the United States," (not coin as construed to mean by some.) The 90 days expires soon, and our County Judge has prepared a telegraphic dispatch to send to-day to a friend in Salem to tender the amount of our State tax "in other [paper] money of the United States." If done, there is no doubt in the world [They pretend to say.—Ed.] that it will be a substantial compliance with the law, the county fully exonerated from all liability, if any, and that no construction can possibly be put on the words "other money of the United States than Treasury Notes," to hold that they mean coin. So much for taxes of last year.

Of the taxes levied for the current year, about one-fifth have been paid in coin, and the remainder are "waiting to see." This morning a petition was presented to Judge Stratton, signed by a queer combination of tax-payers—merchants, attorneys, farmers, members of the Legislature, ex-members and I believe an ex-Governor, asking for a writ of mandamus against the Sheriff, reciting that they had severally tendered the amount of their taxes in lawful money of the United States, but he had refused to take it and to give them a receipt. The Judge replied to the petitions that he would grant what I believe the lawyers call an alternative writ, and give the case a hearing. The principal points are, as I understand them, that the law requiring coin is contrary to the law of Congress and therefore void; that it conflicts with our State Constitution in that the act in which the provision is found, has no reference to it in its title; and, finally, if a good law, can have no reference to taxes already levied.

The case is to be heard about the 30th. So you see that "taxes on the brain" is "what's the matter" up this way.

Glad to notice that you are advocating the proposed amendments to the Constitution. They seem to be desirable.

A petition is in circulation here for the commutation of Henry Deadmond's sentence to imprisonment for life, though with what success I do not know.

COMUS.

The Delany Murder.—Thursday of last week the two men who had been arrested for the murder of old Mr. Delany were examined and committed to answer the charge. We dislike to give any particulars that may prejudice the public mind, or tend to embarrass the course of justice upon the trial, so without mentioning the prisoners' names in that connection we will give a synopsis of the evidence thus far brought out. One of the prisoners owns a farm in the vicinity of the Delany's, and was well acquainted with the place, and it is a matter of proof that he has had more of the confidence of the old man than any one else out of his own family. He has often suggested to others that a fortune might be easily made by killing the old man and getting his money. This idea has been in his mind and frequently expressed for years. On the morning of the murder he was in the Waldo Hills neighborhood, eight miles from Salem and the same distance from Delany's house. He refused to ride into town when an opportunity offered, and started on foot, and his whereabouts have not been proved from 11 o'clock that morning until he reached Salem after 9 o'clock at night. The boy who witnessed the murder describes two persons of the build and color of whiskers of the prisoners, and says they had black faces. Each of the prisoners had dirty faces and washed after reaching home. The dirt on their faces was noticed and remarked upon; they reached home at the same hour, and two such men—one mounted and one on foot—were met near town, avoiding observation. One was walking through a meadow, the other riding a horse, and refused to answer when addressed. The man first alluded to usually wore a white hat, but wore a black hat on this occasion. A hat band was found where the horse was tied in the vicinity of the murder, and a hat without a band, and that this band fitted, was found in his house, both the hat and band being marked with paint spots, and all appearances indicating that they belonged together. The other man was seen riding out south-east of Salem in the afternoon of Monday; he had a double-barrelled gun along, said he was going hunting, was last seen going towards Delany's, though not directly so. The track of a horse, with one particular shoe mark, was found, after the murder, going from near Delany's almost to Salem. The murderers were tracked from the house to this horse, and a foot track accompanied the horse track all the way to or near town. The horse this man rode has a shoe which makes such a peculiar track. A pipe, similar to one he had, and not like any other found in Salem, was picked up on the road the murderers traveled going to town, and this man is proved to have told different stories as to his whereabouts. $27,000 has been found, $3,000 in a wheat bin, and some $10,000 each in the bottom of two barrels filled with corn in Delany's attic, and the murderers are supposed to have taken all they could carry away, at least $25,000, and where they have hidden it was not discovered up to last Saturday night.

Japan.—Foreign relations with Japan seem as complicated as ever. The two principal rulers of that country, the Tycoon and the Mikado, differ in their sentiments towards foreigners. The Tycoon made the former treaty. The Mikado denies his power so to treat, and insists that all foreign persons shall leave the country. Two Englishmen, Major Baldwin and Lieutant Bird, were lately murdered and the English Minister demands the delivery of the murderers, which had not been effected at last dates. New treaties were about to be entered into with the Tycoon for permanent business relations.

Walla Walla Items.—The Statesman says the Golden Age is suspended until the office can be removed to Boise City (where we hope to hear from it, as the Age is one of our best up-country exchanges.

Emil Bordenouf, awaiting trial in jail at Walla Walla, escaped on the 8th inst., cutting a hole in the floor of his cell.

The Calliopean Society there were improving the winter evenings by having a course of lectures delivered by different persons, on interesting subjects.

Killed.—A desperado named Jack Gordon was lately shot and killed in Linn Valley, Tulare county. A person known as "Cap," performed the praiseworthy deed.

Snake Indians.—The Mountaineer says the Snake Indians have appeared on the Canyon City road, and warns travelers to keep a good lookout for themselves and stock.

There is said to be no snow at the Warm Springs Reservation, and the Indians' stock is doing well.

Killed.—A man, whose name we could not learn, was killed at Idaho City week before last by one of the sleds of the Idaho Sliding Club. He was standing in the street, engaged in conversation, with his back toward the hill, when one of the sleds, coming down with great speed, took a sheer from the track and ran against both legs, tripped him up and threw him backwards against the ground with such force as to split his head open. He never breathed after the fall.—W. W. Statesman.

The United States Bankrupt Bill.—This bill, which passed the United States' House of Representatives December 12th, was carried by a vote of 76 to 56. The bill, which at last accounts had not passed the Senate, had in it a clause providing that it should take effect June 1, 1865.

Dancing in a Good Cause.—A ball in Brooklyn recently realized about $12,000 for the aid of the destitute families of soldiers who are in the field.

From Nassau.

The Herald's Nassau correspondent of the 10th says: The [illegible] Rebel fleet plying between Wilmington [illegible] ton and Nassau [illegible] half million of dollars has [illegible] from the above named ports [illegible] A large number of British [illegible] from Liverpool, London and the Clyde [illegible] supplies for the rebels. Two blockade runners cleared for Wilmington at Nassau on the 11th. They have probably learned before now on arriving at New Inlet, that a change had taken place in the position of affairs there, and they were just in time to fall into the hands of the National forces.

Rebel News.

The Herald's Army of the Potomac correspondent under date of Jan. 16th, says: A number of deserters who came into the lines in front of Petersburg last evening report that the Danville Railroad, between Danville and Greensboro [illegible] miles was destroyed by heavy rains, that every culvert and bridge was carried away, and that Lee's army is likely to be out of rations altogether soon. The quantity they issue is utterly inadequate to satisfy the wants of the men. Every effort is being made to rebuild the road. Large gangs of men have been detailed for that purpose. It will take some days to repair it.

The Richmond Examiner suggests that all the cotton at Wilmington be burned, as the port being closed the place is not of any consequence, and may fall into the enemy's hands.

The Richmond Enquirer acknowledges the port closed, and says: now for the first time we are thrown entirely on our own resources. Butler could have taken it on Christmas day, but he did not because he was afraid. It would be folly to pretend that the port of Wilmington was not of great value to our cause but that it did much harm is equally clear.

The Richmond Examiner of the 18th says: The report of Seddon's retiring from the Cabinet has not been confirmed.

The Secretary of War has directed the Provost Marshal of Fredericksburg to release Mr. Foote from custody. It is uncertain whether he will go forward to Washington or return to Richmond.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Richmond Dispatch, of the 19th, says: Our most reliable information is that the enemy (Federals) have attempted to advance towards Wilmington. Fort Caswell was at last advices held by our forces. It is feared that it will be rendered useless to us by the enemy blockading the river at a point between it and Wilmington.

Resolutions in the rebel Senate creating the office of Commander-in-Chief of all the armies of the Southern Confederacy, and recommending that Gen. Johnston be reinstated, have been passed. This will, if carried by both Houses, make Lee Commander-in-Chief of all the rebel armies.

Reports from and about Richmond.

New York, Jan. 22.—The Richmond Whig says: That negroes in the prime of life will make better soldiers than white men of over fifty.

General Johnston in his late speech at Columbia, South Carolina, says he is out of the [illegible] and regretted that he could not serve with the rebel soldiers.

H. S. Foote refuses to be released and [illegible] upon a trial to show cause for his arrest. [illegible] Semmes has reached Richmond.

New York, Jan. 22.—The Herald's Shenandoah Valley correspondent says: A gentleman of Madison County, Virginia, who recently visited Richmond states that he conversed with government officers, who told him the holding of Richmond for any considerable time was despaired of by Davis and Lee. The public archives, not necessary for immediate use were being sent away. Hundreds of families had removed to North Carolina or Georgia. The city is said to be in process of mining. Davis is determined that Richmond shall not fall into our hands except as a heap of ruins.

A singular article appears in the Richmond Enquirer of last Thursday, which says: That after every manly effort the rebels may yet fail, and policy and interest may incline them to submit to the United States rather than to England, France or Maximilian. With their military forces they could then sweep this continent and [illegible] shame; while America will become the [illegible] power of the world. On the other [illegible] of the Richmond editors, in view of the fact that they have lost all the seaports [illegible] make great efforts [illegible] ings. They say [illegible] is now their [illegible] business. The conscription [illegible] every one that can must serve.

Success of Grierson's Raid.

The Herald's New Orleans dispatch gives the particulars of Grierson's late great raid in Mississippi. It confirms the previous [illegible] great success. They marched four hundred miles, lost less than one hundred men, [illegible] hundred prisoners and brought in [illegible] contrabands and one thousand horses, destroying one hundred miles of railroad.

From Wilmington and the Fleet.

The Tribune's Fort Fisher correspondent says the explosion of the magazine was caused by the carelessness of our men, who [illegible] enough to go in with lighted [illegible] candles while inside. The total loss [illegible] fight will not exceed [illegible] and [illegible] the explosion about one hundred more.

Blair's Second Visit to Richmond.

New York, Jan. 22.—The Herald's Washington special has various rumors concerning [illegible] visit to Richmond. One is that Blair [illegible] autograph letter from Davis to [illegible] was ready to treat for peace and that [illegible] cation from Lincoln has been taken to Richmond, expressing a willingness to [illegible] commissioners. Many well informed people in Washington look for important results from Blair's second visit to the rebel capital.

New York Trade Report.

TRIAL TRIP OF THE STEAMER CASCADE.—In company with a number of other invited guests, we were present yesterday, and embarked on board the handsome steamer Cascade, on her trial trip. Under the direction of Capt. Ankeny steam was raised at 1 o'clock, p. m., but in consequence of a strong south-east wind, and the position in which the steamer lay, below Couch's wharf, where she was finished up, it was some time before she got under way. Finally, at a quarter of two o'clock, with Capt. Strang at the helm, the steamer steamed on her way, amid the waving of handkerchiefs and hats on board and on shore, proceeding up the river within sight of the Ware House, then returning passed below the city to the vicinity of Springville, and back to her wharf again. The trial gave general satisfaction, proving the utility of the new craft, while at the same time a few minor defects were discovered, which are to be remedied in future. The Cascade has been built by Messrs. Donahue, Kohl & Ankeny, for a general transportation business, on the Columbia and Willamette rivers, at an expense of nearly $40,000. The hull was constructed at Upsaluty, W. T., during last spring and summer, and the boat was finished sufficient to steam over to this place, where she arrived in safety with the timber for two other steamers, and such freight, amounting in the aggregate to about 300 tons. The Cascade is 150 feet in length, with 24 feet beam, stern wheel, with all the modern improvements both in machinery and style of finish, and will prove herself an efficient craft. The cold, raw day, made the excursion one very unpleasant yesterday, but what was lost in gazing at the surroundings, by those who partook of the enjoyments of the occasion, was amply made up in the dining saloon, where a choice lunch was spread, and sundry bottles of champaigne uncorked, for the merry making of the guests, by the active steward, Charles Miller. The new steamer will be ready for regular business next week, and we understand will take the place of the steamer John H. Couch for a short time, in the Astoria line, while the latter is to be laid up for a general overhauling in repairs.

CAUTION ABOUT FIRES.—The present cold snap of weather is likely to create some trouble from fires, unless precaution is taken by the people to guard against the dangers. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and in this instance our attention has been called to the subject by Chief Engineer Buchtel, whose diligence in attending to the demands of his office is quite commendable, and we hope that some such suggestions may prove the salvation of property and a preservative of life. Stove-pipes should be at least four inches from wood-work, and securely guarded by tin, and carried up at least four feet above the extreme height of the roof, when passing out in that manner; never leave wood or clothes too near a stove on leaving a store, office, or other place for the night, or upon retiring to bed, use precaution in the manner of fixing the stove for safety. A large proportion of fires are the result of carelessness, and the surest method of avoiding calamities in this respect is to adopt some such directions and strictly attend to them.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY OF A LOCAL EDITOR.—The Cincinnati Gazette of late date contains an account of the higway robbery of a local editor in that city, which was a little worse than a like circumstance which happened to us recently. The reporter was struck on the head with a slung-shot, and while he lay senseless on the ground the villain robbed him of his watch. Such outrages the fraternity of "locals" are called upon to protest against. Highwaymen and assassins should remember that we are on the "free list," and must be exempt from their depredations. And furthermore, it is mean enough to strike a live man, but to pummel "dead heads" is simply brutal; and then, considerations of reciprocity should not be forgotten—we put their names in the papers occasionally for which flattering services they should "pass" us, as door-keepers, steam-boat men, and other good mannered people do. On reflection, we think the fellows who commit such outrages must be drunk, or green hands at the business, or they would know better than to expect anything worth having from a local reporter.

NAVIGATION.—The O. S. N. Company's steamer Wilson G. Hunt made a successful trip to the Cascades yesterday, notwithstanding the unusual and increasing cold weather. Large quantities of anchor ice was found in the Columbia river, from Vancouver as far as the old mills of the Hudson Bay Company, but nothing to obstruct the passage. The steamer Idaho was met at the Cascades but her successful return to the Dalles was surrounded with doubts, as her Purser reports a field of ice below the Clickitat, which it was necessary to force the way through, on coming down in the morning. The Hunt will leave for the Cascades at the usual hour this morning.

COLD WEATHER.—The weather continued biting cold yesterday, the thermometer indicating an average of 5° below the freezing point, during the day time, and about 10° at night. Strong easterly winds prevailed almost the entire day and continued last evening. Such weather is not at all desirable for furthering the interests of our agriculturalists, but it "just suits" the disposition of about three-fourths of our entire population. Skates were brought into useful occupation yesterday, by the many lovers of the joyful sport on ice, and "Crystal Lake" was the resort of numerous hundreds, some of the visitors being stars in the art, but the majority seemed to be amateurs, and were easily satisfied after they had seen stars from sundry bumps.

ONWARD AND UPWARD.—Captain Leon. White, the late commander of the steamer Cayuse, and part owner of the schooner Jas. Buchanan, above Celilo, has gone to Colville for the purpose of constructing a steamer to run on the Columbia river above Kettle Falls. This may be considered penetrating the interior of a wilderness very much, and should Capt. White be successful, of which there is not much room for a doubt, it will be a striking realization of the "onward and upward" movement of progression, illustrated by the real acts of man, undimmed by the vista of time.

INSANE.—Seeing quite a crowd gathered yesterday around a conveyance attempting to cross the Ferry, we stopped to ask the cause, and found that some poor unfortunate bound for the Asylum had become so unmanageable that those in charge were obliged to stop and tie him to curb his violence.

STREET AFFRAY.—An affray occurred at the corner of Second and Morrison streets yesterday, resulting in a crash of "arms" between a couple of butchers. The aggressor, a man Sargeant, was arrested by officer Hoyt, for his appearance before the City Recorder this morning.

FELL OVERBOARD.—Soon after the steamer Rescue left Couch's wharf with the schooner Isabel in tow yesterday, a man was seen to fall overboard from the vessel. The engines of the steamer were immediately reversed, and the man rescued.

AUCTION SALE.—We call the attention of our readers to the furniture auction sale of Mr. Richardson, on the premises, corner of Fifth and Stark streets, this morning. See advertisement.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The adjourned term of the Circuit Court met yesterday at the Court House, to hear motions and arguments in chancery causes.

Portland Lyrics.

No. I.

In Portland, when the sun was low,
And Hood blushed rosy in his glow,
A stranger, with a walking go
Through Portland strolls inquiringly.
His business was to take the air,
(Some note he bore to see the fair,)
And when he'd bow to every fair,
At Portland belles admiringly.

He walked up street, and walked down street,
He knew not which he thought the wisest;
But, being a wicked man, he curst
At every crossing stoutly.
Said he—"this is a jolly town:
They do their street-work here, up brown;
And keep the dust so well wet down!
A man respires delightfully.

"They're like the good old Holland Dutch;
They don't believe in dust or such,
But think they cannot have too much
Of wholesome, pure humidity.
I like the way their houses look—
Each one beside a 'purling brook,'
Or, 'limpid lake,'—which Muggins took
For geese-ponds. What stupidity!

"That Muggins told me, as we dined,
That, seeing 'twas me, he didn't mind
Telling a secret if I'd bind
Myself to 'mum' religiously.
He swears that down began to grow
Upon his breast; and 'twixt each toe
A web is forming;—don't I know
The fellow lies prodigiously!

"Now I admire a single plank,
Well greased, o'er places slightly dank,—
I couldn't walk it if I drank—
But that bespeaks sobriety.
I like the gay and festive air
That 'knee-deep' gives a thoroughfare
I like this Portland town—I swear—
I'll strike for its society."

Thus mused the stranger on his way
To take the air at close of day;
A smile did o'er his features play,
Betokening benignity.
But Portland saw another sight
When, overtaken by the night,
A mis-step sent this hapless wight
To eat dirt with indignity.

Said Muggins, when at their hotel
They met, "My friend, you look so well
In pent of Portland loam, I'll tell Matilda:—she amused will be!"
"The wretch! I'll ask him out to walk,
Some moonlight eve, and in our talk,
I'll tilt that plank—aye, that's the chalk,—
I wonder who confused will be?

"I pray the City Fathers not,
Too soon to notice that same spot;
First let me act my little plot—
Romance before utility.
But if they will commit the crime
Of war against the bumpin shrine
Of Portland streets, just give me time
To teach that chap civility.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and constructive. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and a robust [illegible] produce nutritious [illegible] healthy flame. Does the [illegible] dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire [illegible] may be improved, the bile and [illegible]?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged!

In the decline of life, the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females:

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlivens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.

NEWELL'S

PULMONARY SYRUP

HAS

CURED THOUSANDS!

And it will Cure You!

"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences, as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption.—[Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAN COUGHING!

Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supercede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but

Pulmonary Syrup!

Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM?

Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice, kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold!

Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

NEWELL'S
PULMONARY SYRUP.

KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

A Greenback Case!

HAVING BEEN COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF Legal Tender Notes at par since the 17th day of December, 1862, for the rent of my handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public at large, that.

Jacob Mayer

leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly, under protest for the rent of the

CITY OF PARIS STORE,

Making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what it costs to have such tenants. G. W. VAUGHN.

A Madrid paper talks confidently of a project for a million Irishmen going to Spain and settling there.

From an inspection of the Stratford register, it is found that Shakspeare's will was subsequently married a shoemaker of the town, named Richard James.

A milking match came off at Virginia, Nevada, December 25th, between two brothers named Mullin and Brady, which resulted in a victory to the former.

McClellan received the smallest vote of any Presidential candidate except at the election in 1804, when Pinckney, the Federal candidate, had only 14 votes.

Dresden is to have, next July, a monster festival to last four and a half days, and to consist of 10,000 singers, who will be conducted by an electrical apparatus. Cost estimated at $100,000.

Some surgeons at London have succeeded, by scientific operations, in giving sight to persons born blind. There are touching descriptions of the surprise and confusion of those to whom the world is first opened.

Among the Acts passed at the late session of the Alabama Legislature was one which makes the crimes of negro stealing, burglary, robbery and arson, punishable with death by hanging, without discretion of the jury.

One hundred and three vessels, registering 98,422 tons, have sailed from the east for California during the year, up to December 1st, against one hundred and one vessels, registering 108,365 tons, that were dispatched during a corresponding year.

The Treasurer of the California Branch United States Sanitary Commission remitted to New York by telegraph, January 2d, the sum of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000,) in gold coin, making a total of $67,000 coin, and $8,591 in currency, forwarded since September 1st, 1864.

At the funeral of Lieutenant Urmston, in Danville, Connecticut, recently, the clergyman spoke from the passage in Revelations: "There was a rainbow round about the throne," and as the body was lowered into the grave the sun broke through the cloud and a beautiful rainbow appeared in the east.

Commodore Winslow, of the Kearsarge, is a Southern born. In a speech made at Roxbury, Mass., on election day, he said he had just voted for Lincoln and Johnson, and believed that the emancipation policy was right. He had himself inherited some thirty slaves, whom he had long ago emancipated—a record which outshines the sinking of the Alabama.

A convention has been concluded between Italy and Turkey for the establishment of telegraphic communication between the two countries. The Italian Government engages to sink a cable between Otranto, on the Neapolitan coast, and Vallone, on the coast of Albania, and to keep it in repair. The Sultan, on the other hand, engages to keep the Vallone, Constantinople and Ilrail line in constant repair.

The new Canadian Confederacy is progressing. Among the principal features of the debates in the Convention recently held to further it was a lively skirmish on the subject of inviting Prince Alfred, second son of the Queen, to take the Government of the country. On the test, the noes had it, the majority showing themselves averse to anything like royalty. Sensible conclusion, we of the United States will say.

A curious old assignment has been handed to the editor of the New York Evening Post, dated April 20, 1824, by which it appears that John Slidell was in those days a tallow chandler! This John Slidell, insolvent soap boiler of 1824, was the father of John Slidell, who, in 1864, calls himself a Southern aristocrat, and whose daughter married a Parisian banker! Soap and tallow, lard and ham fat!! Whew!

Talking of typographic errors, a cotemporary, speaking of a man of some note, lately deceased undertook to say, "he subsequently commenced life as a legal practitioner, but was diverted from it by his love of letters." The editor did not look at his proof-sheet, and he had the pleasure, of reading in his paper; "He subsequently commenced life as a politician, but was diverted from it by his love of bitters."

The Unionists of the Eighth Congressional District, N. Y., being satisfied that William E. Dodge was cheated out of his election by frauds and gross irregularities, are engaged in collecting evidence with a view of contesting the election of James Brooks to the seat. It is believed that the revelations in this district will throw some light upon the causes of the shameful 37,600 majority for McClellan in New York city.

It is said that a large portion of the Hawaiian molasses received at San Francisco from the Islands is taken into the grape growing counties of the interior, probably with the intention of making it into California Brandy, after the style and quality of French (Bordeaux). During the past four months from 500 to 1,000 barrels of this Sandwich Islands molasses have been purchased, as is supposed, for that purpose.

An Occasional Armistice.—The following is the most interesting account of the occasional intercourse between the pickets of the two armies in Virginia that we have seen:

When the last salute was finished, there was some cross-firing of words between the aroused pickets along the vidette line. 'How are you, Atlanta?' called out one of the boys. 'You had better try and take Petersburg, now,' was the rebel response. 'Sheridan is after you fellows, sharp,' said Yank. 'Won't you send some more of your colored brudders into another mine?' asked Johnny. 'Don't you want some coffee and sugar?' inquired our men, tauntingly. 'Wouldn't you like to exchange your wormy hardtack for our Johnny cake?' replied the foe. This last hit was a hard one, and unexpected. Our poor soldiers do have shockingly poor bread just now. The worms in it are very large and very lively. We did not know before that they had been seen from the enemy's works. There was more of this verbal sharp shooting. While the two lines are in such close proximity, no orders will prevent intercourse, even among those who are true and loyal to their respective sides. * * *

There is a cornfield between our lines at one point, a little to the left of Cemetery Hill. The opposing pickets will creep into that for an occasional friendly chat, or for a barter, or for a game of cards—only think of it! Two of them were playing a game a few days since, with Abe Lincoln and Jeff. Davis as imaginary stakes. The Lincolnites lost. 'There,' says the winner, 'Old Abe belongs to me.' 'Well, I'll send him over by the Petersburg Express,' responded the defeated Yank. One day last week there had been lively shelling and some musketry firing during the forenoon—of course but little talking. After dinner, there was a slack of hostilities. A Johnny rose up on the parapet of his line, and stuck a paper as a sign of truce, and then sprung over into the corn. At once a hundred men from either line were over the works and side by side, swapping papers for papers, tobacco for coffee, jack-knives, hardtack or sugar for corn-cake. New acquaintances were made. In some instances old acquaintances were revived. A Connecticut Sergeant found a townsman and shoolmate in a Sergeant from over the way. A Connecticut officer found a kinsman in a rebel officer. A loyal Maryland regiment was vis-a-vis with a Maryland secesh regiment. Many links of Union were there. One found a brother on the other side and yet another his own father. There's a romance of war for you! After a little time the swapping of the day was done, and the officers and men returned to their own lines. All was quiet again until the artillery reopened fire. Then a half score of loiterers sprung up from their concealment in the corn, and scrambled back to their places behind the works. Thus the fighting and the chatting alternate. Queer business, this war.

Cairo.—The latest description of the famous town at the little end of Illinois, which we have seen in print, is this:

Cairo is, without exception, the filthiest hole in existence. It is the end of the world, the tail of creation, the finis of the sphere, the dirt box of this globe. It is built on a morass, with a high embankment in front on the river side to save it from being wiped off the map by an overflow. This, however, does not save it from being constantly inundated, as the "body" of the town is far below the water-line of the river. All the streets are bridged over with wooden bridges for foot passengers, and only in three or four streets can horses travel. Pigs, cows, hens, and horses run loose in the alleys and lanes. Every thoroughfare is a garbage box. All the houses are built on foundations twenty feet high, with no cellars nor basements. All the stores are variety stores. The telegraph operator keeps a grocery, and the postmaster has a news stand.

Scenes in Charleston.—The messengers of death have been passing thick and fast amongst the inhabitants of the city, tearing up the streets, cutting gas pipes, and plunging us into darkness, thundering against churches and dwellings and creating a great tumult; but how few of our citizens have been harmed in their persons. You [illegible] what hair-breadth escapes have been made.

I saw but a few days since the interior of a gentleman's residence which a shell had entered. Cutting the tester and passing through the partition of his bed, it penetrated the opposite wall, and lodged in the adjoining room. Both himself and wife were in the house at the time, and he remains there still. In another instance a shell at night entered a chamber, and passing between the slats and bed-clothes of a crib in which an infant was lying, left the little creature unhurt, but lost in the convulsions of its bedding.

Some months ago, while our intrepid firemen were making every exertion to subdue the last spreading flames in one of the lower wards, the Yankees opened as usual on the locality. A shell in its parabolic descent, entered an engine which a number of firemen were working, and which was surrounded by a large concourse of others. The huge friend of our homes was blown to atoms, the men were lashed to the ground, and with the exception of a negro, who had just taken the place of a white man, and who lost an arm, resulting afterwards in his death, and a very slight wound inflicted on one or two others, none were injured.

Passing through the lower wards of the city, you would be particularly struck with two things. First, the sad desolation. The elegant mansions and familiar thoroughfares, once rejoicing in wealth and refinement, and the theatre of busy life—the well known and fondly cherished churches—some of them ancient landmarks—where large assemblies were wont to bow at holy altars, and spacious halls that once blazed with light and rung with festal songs, are all deserted, sombre and cheerless; and this is enhanced by the forbidding aspect of that vast district of that city which was laid in ashes three years ago, and which remains in unmolested ruins as the monument of Charleston's long and dreary pause in the grand march of improvement. Here you perceive her humiliation.—S. C. Advocate.

A Mysterious Ship.—Was it the Flying Dutchman?—Captain Shield, of the bark Springbok, reports the following:—"July 18th, 1864, in latitude (by observation) 78° N. longitude (by chronometer) 31° 12' W. At 1 p. m., sighted a vessel which bore down upon us, and came within hailing distance; hove to, and showed on a black board with 23° 9' on it, being 18 degrees out. I asked him several questions, such as 'What is the matter with you?' 'Do you want anything?' 'Are you leaky?' 'Where from and where bound?' but all I could get out of him was, 'Captain, I do not understand what you say,' although in very plain English, he called out several times, 'Heave your ship to.' There appeared to be confusion on board, and there was about forty men on deck; and as I feared something was seriously wrong on board the vessel, I bore up in chase, but soon found that she could outstrip me, and had to give it up. Thought, by the rig, &c., that she was built up the Straits of Gibralter. While talking to him who seemed to be in charge, a woman appeared at the top-gallant forecastle shouting as loudly as she could, at the same time shaking her hands towards us and wringing them over her head, evidently in great distress. The man in charge was about six feet in hight, and stout. When I had hove to, he at once kept away under our stern. I thought he was about heaving to also, but his helm was put up and all sail made in a remarkably short time, and while doing this the person in charge was observed to throw the woman down and drive her aft. I was about ordering my hands into the boats when he made sail."

An Irelandic Tale.—Near a certain farm, long ago, three children were playing on a grassy mound, a little girl and two boys. After they had played for some time, the girl, who was the youngest of them, found a deep whole in the ground, so deep that she could not see the bottom of it. Stooping down she thrust her hand into it, and shutting her eyes, cried out in fun, "Put something in the palm of an old beggar, and old beggar, shall not see." No sooner had she said the words than a large silver button was placed in her hand. When the other children saw her good luck they were fit to burst with envy, and the eldest of them, stooping down thrust his hand into the hole too, and said: "Put something into the hand of an old beggar, and the old beggar shall not see," for he hoped to get something at least as good as the little girl had got, if not better, indeed. But no! Far from it! When he drew his hand out again, he only found he had lost the use of it, and what was more, never recovered it again. For the elf, who hated envy more than anything in the world, had given it a squeeze.

A Very Great Rascal.—Two young lawyers, Archey Brown and Thomas Jones, were fond of dropping into Mr. Smith's parlor and spending an hour or two with his only daughter, Mary. One evening when Brown and Mary had discussed almost every topic, Brown suddenly, in his sweetest tones, struck out as follows: "Do you think, Mary, you could leave father and mother, this pleasant home, with all its ease and comforts, and emigrate to the Far West with a young lawyer, who had but little besides his profession to depend upon, and with him search out a new home, which it should be your joint duty to beautify, and make delightful and happy, like this?"

Dropping her head softly on his shoulder she whispered: "I think I could, Archy."

"Well," said he, "there's Tom Jones, who's going to migrate, and wants to get a wife; I'll mention it to him."

Bravo, Bub!—Tom is a bright little boy, and very much attached to his mother. The other day his father came home in a bad humor, and was scolding and finding fault with things generally. Little Tom sat and listened until he thought it necessary to interfere in behalf of his mother, when, looking up at his father, he said in a very decided tone, "If you do not like her ways, what did you marry her for?"

Not Dangerous.—The servants in Cowell's Hotel, in New York, searched the house for incendiaries. In one bedroom they found a small box with a black morocco cover, and at once set it down as an infernal machine. The police were put on the track of the young man who occupied the room, and he was arrested and only released from custody after much trouble, by showing that his box was nothing more than a patent shaving apparatus.

The man who smoked in bed on his wedding-night was sarcastically informed by his bride that "no gentleman ever lighted his cigar at the torch of Hymen."

Gov. Gilmore, of New Hampshire, has put four substitutes in the army.

It is well known that the Medicinal effects of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a Solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown; and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M. D.,

IODINE WATER.

Iodine Water is the most important discovery of modern medicine, and it is impossible to over-estimate its importance as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the greatest [illegible] Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. [illegible]

LIVER, KIDNEYS,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it manifested [illegible] until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a [illegible] which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use commenced by practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page [illegible])

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its superiority is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the [illegible] the result [illegible] the employment of Iodine. The patient [illegible] flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, emaciated and feeble, [illegible] full, strong and florid.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

Its action is expectorant, alterative, sudorific, sedative, diaphoretic and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

A Madrid paper talks confidently of a project for a million Irishmen going to Spain, and settling there.

From an inspection of the Stratford register, it is found that Shakspeare's widow subsequently married a shoemaker of the town, named Richard James.

A milling match came off at Virginia, Nevada, December 25th, between two bruisers named Mullin and Brady, which resulted in a victory to the former.

McClellan received the smallest vote of any Presidential candidate except at the election in 1804, when Pinckney, the Federal candidate, had only 14 votes.

Dresden is to have, next July, a monster festival to last four and a half days, and to consist of 10,000 singers, who will be conducted by an electrical apparatus. Cost estimated at $100,000.

Some surgeons at London have succeeded, by scientific operations, in giving sight to persons born blind. There are touching descriptions of the surprise and confusion of those to whom the world is first opened.

Among the Acts passed at the late session of the Alabama Legislature was one which makes the crimes of negro stealing, burglary, robbery and arson, punishable with death by hanging, without discretion of the jury.

One hundred and three vessels, registering 93,422 tons, have sailed from the east for California during the year, up to December 1st, against one hundred and one vessels, registering 108,305 tons, that were dispatched during a corresponding year.

The Treasurer of the California Branch United States Sanitary Commission remitted to New York by telegraph, January 3d, the sum of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000,) in gold coin, making a total of $67,000 coin, and $3,591 in currency, forwarded since September 1st, 1864.

At the funeral of Lieutenant Urmiston, in Danville, Connecticut, recently, the clergyman spoke from the passage in Revelations: "There was a rainbow round about the throne," and as the body was lowered into the grave the sun broke through the cloud and a beautiful rainbow appeared in the east.

Commodore Winslow, of the Kearsarge, is a Southern born. In a speech made at Roxbury, Mass., on election day, he said he had just voted for Lincoln and Johnson, and believed that the emancipation policy was right. He had himself inherited some thirty slaves, whom he had long ago emancipated—a record which outshines the sinking of the Alabama.

A convention has been concluded between Italy and Turkey for the establishment of telegraphic communication between the two countries. The Italian Government engages to sink a cable between Otranto, on the Neapolitan coast, and Valone, on the coast of Albania, and to keep it in repair. The Sultan, on the other hand, engages to keep the Vallone, Constantinople and Ilrail line in constant repair.

The new Canadian Confederacy is progressing. Among the principal features of the debates in the Convention recently held to further it was a lively skirmish on the subject of inviting Prince Alfred, second son of the Queen, to take the Government of the country. On the test, the noes had it, the majority showing themselves averse to anything like royalty. Sensible conclusion, we of the United States will say.

A curious old assignment has been handed to the editor of the New York Evening Post, dated April 20, 1824, by which it appears that John Slidell was in those days a tallow chandler! This John Slidell, insolvent soap boiler of 1824, was the father of John Slidell, who, in 1864, calls himself a Southern aristocrat, and whose daughter married a Parisian banker! Soap and tallow, lard and ham fat!! Whew!

Talking of typographic errors, a contemporary, speaking of a man of some note, lately deceased undertook to say, "he subsequently commenced life as a legal practitioner, but was diverted from it by his love of letters." The editor did not look at his proof-sheet, and he had the pleasure of reading in his paper: "He subsequently commenced life as a politician, but was diverted from it by his love of bitters."

The Unionists of the Eighth Congressional District, N. Y., being satisfied that William E. Dodge was cheated out of his election by frauds and gross irregularities, are engaged in collecting evidence with a view of contesting the election of James Brooks to the seat. It is believed that the revelations in this district will throw some light upon the causes of the shameful 37,600 majority for McClellan in New York city.

It is said that a large portion of the Hawaiian molasses received at San Francisco from the Islands is taken into the grape growing counties of the interior, probably with the intention of making it into California Brandy, after the style and quality of French (Bordeaux). During the past four months from 500 to 1,000 barrels of this Sandwich Islands molasses have been purchased, as is supposed, for that purpose.

AN OCCASIONAL ARMISTICE.—The following is the most interesting account of the occasional intercourse between the pickets of the two armies in Virginia that we have seen:

When the last salute was finished, there was some cross-firing of words between the aroused pickets along the vidette line. 'How are you, Atlanta?' called out one of the boys. 'You had better try and take Petersburg, now,' was the rebel response. 'Sheridan is after you fellows, sharp,' said Yank. 'Won't you send some more of your colored bruders into another mine?' asked Johnny. 'Don't you want some coffee and sugar?' inquired our men, tauntingly. 'Wouldn't you like to exchange your wormy hardtack for our Johnny cake?' replied the foe. This last hit was a hard one, and unexpected. Our poor soldiers do have shockingly poor bread just now. The worms in it are very large and very lively. We did not know before that they had been seen from the enemy's works. There was more of this verbal sharp shooting. While the two lines are in such close proximity, no orders will prevent intercourse, even among those who are true and loyal to their respective sides. * * *

There is a cornfield between our lines at one point, a little to the left of Cemetery Hill. The opposing pickets will creep into that for an occasional friendly chat, or for a barter, or for a game of cards—only think of it! Two of them were playing a game a few days since, with Abe Lincoln and Jeff Davis as imaginary stakes. The Lincolnites lost. 'There,' says the winner, 'Old Abe belongs to me.' 'Well, I'll send him over by the Petersburg Express,' responded the defeated Yank. One day last week there had been lively shelling and some musketry firing during the forenoon—of course but little talking. After dinner there was a slack of hostilities. A Johnny rose up on the parapet of his line, and shook a paper as a sign of truce, and then sprung over into the corn. At once a hundred men from either line were over the works and side by side, swapping papers for papers, tobacco for coffee or jack-knives, hardtack or sugar for corn-cake. New acquaintances were made. In some instances old acquaintances were revived. A Connecticut Sergeant found a townsman and shoolmate in a Sergeant from over the way. A Connecticut officer found a kinsman in a rebel officer. A loyal Maryland regiment was vis-a-vis with a Maryland secesh regiment. Many links of Union were there. One found a brother on the other side and yet another his own father. There's a romance of war for you! After a little time the swapping of the day was done, and the officers and men returned to their own lines. All was quiet again until the artillery reopened fire. Then a half score of loiterers sprung up from their concealment in the corn, and scrambled back to their places behind the works. Thus the fighting and the chatting alternate. Queer business, this war.

CAIRO.—The latest description of the famous town at the little end of Illinois, which we have seen in print, is this:

Cairo is, without exception, the filthiest hole in existence. It is the end of the world, the tail of creation, the finis of the sphere, the dirt box of this globe. It is built on a morass, with a high embankment in front on the river side to save it from being wiped off the map by an overflow. This, however, does not save it from being constantly inundated, as the "body" of the town is far below the water-line of the river. All the streets are bridged over with wooden bridges for foot passengers, and only in three or four streets can horses travel. Pigs, cows, beds and horses run loose in the alleys and lanes. Every thoroughfare is a garbage box. All the houses are built on foundations twenty feet high, with no cellars nor basements. All the stores are variety stores. The telegraph operator keeps a grocery, and the postmaster has a news stand.

SCENES IN CHARLESTON.—The messengers of death have been passing thick and fast among the inhabitants of the city, tearing up the streets, cutting gas pipes, and plunging us into darkness, thundering against churches and dwellings and creating a great tumult; but how few of our citizens have been harmed in their persons! Yet what hair-breadth escapes have been made.

I saw but a few days since the interior of a gentleman's residence which a shell had entered. Cutting the tester and passing through the pavilion of his bed, it penetrated the opposite wall, and lodged in the adjoining room. Both himself and wife were in the house at the time, and he remains there still. In another instance a similar missile entered a chamber, and passing between the slats and bed-clothes of a crib in which an infant was lying left the little creature unhurt, but lost in the convulsions of its bedding.

Some months ago, while our intrepid firemen were making every exertion to subdue the first spreading flames in one of the lower wards, the Yankees opened as usual on the locality. A shell in its parabolic descent, entered an engine which a number of firemen were working, and which was surrounded by a large concourse of others. The mute friend of our homes was blown to atoms. The men were dashed to the ground, and with the exception of a negro, who had just taken the place of a white man, and who lost an arm, resulting afterwards in his death, and a very slight wound inflicted on one or two others, none were injured.

Passing through the lower wards of the city, you would be particularly struck with two things. First the sad desolation. The elegant mansions and familiar thoroughfares, once rejoicing in wealth and refinement, and the theatre of busy life—the well known and fondly cherished churches—some of them ancient landmarks—where large assemblies were wont to bow at holy altars, and spacious halls that once blazed with light and rung with festal songs, are all deserted, sombre and cheerless; and this is enhanced by the forbidding aspect of that vast district of that city which was laid in ashes three years ago, and which remains in unmolested ruins as the monument of Charleston's long and dreary pause in the grand march of improvement. Here you perceive her humiliation.—S. C. Advocate.

A MYSTERIOUS SHIP.—WAS IT THE FLYING DUTCHMAN?—Captain Shield, of the bark Springbok, reports the following:—"July 18th, 1864, in latitude (by observation) 78° N, longitude (by chronometer) 31° 12′ W. At 1 p. m. sighted a vessel, which bore down upon us, and came within hailing distance; hove to, and showed us a black board with 23° 9′ on it, being 18 degrees out. I asked him several questions, such as 'What is the matter with you?' 'Do you want anything?' 'Are you leaky?' 'Where from and where bound?' but all I could get out of him was, 'Captain, I do not understand what you say,' although in very plain English, he called out several times, 'Heave your ship to.' There appeared to be confusion on board, and there was about forty men on deck, and as I feared something was seriously wrong on board the vessel, I bore up in chase, but soon found that she could outstrip me, and had to give it up. Thought, by the rig &c., that she was built up the Straits of Gibralter. While talking to him who seemed to be in charge, a woman appeared at the top-gallant forecastle shouting as loudly as she could, at the same time shaking her hands towards us and wringing them over her head, evidently in great distress. The man in charge was about six feet in hight, and stout. When I had hove to, he at once kept away under our stern. I thought he was about heaving to also, but his helm was put up and all sail made in a remarkably short time, and while doing this the person in charge was observed to throw the woman down and drive her aft. I was about ordering my hands into the boats when he made sail."

AN ICELANDIC TALE.—Near a certain farm, long ago, three children were playing on a grassy mound, a little girl and two boys. After they had played for some time, the girl, who was the youngest of them, found a deep whole in the ground, so deep that she could not see the bottom of it. Stooping down she thrust her hand into it, and, shutting her eyes, cried out in fun, "Put something in the palm of an old beggar, and old beggar shall not see." No sooner had she said the words than a large silver button was placed in her hand. When the other children saw her good luck they were fit to burst with envy, and the eldest of them, stooping down thrust his hand into the hole too, and said: "Put something into the hand of an old beggar, and the old beggar shall not see," for he hoped to get something atleast as good as the little girl had got, if not better, indeed. But no! Far from it. When he drew his hand out again, he only found he had lost the use of it, and what was more, never recovered it again. For the elf, who hated envy more than anything in the world, had given it a squeeze.

A VERY GREAT RASCAL.—Two young lawyers, Archey Brown and Thomas Jones, were fond of dropping into Mr. Smith's parlor and spending an hour or two with his only daughter, Mary. One evening, when Brown and Mary had discussed almost every topic, Brown suddenly, in his sweetest tones, struck out as follows: "Do you think, Mary, you could leave father and mother, this pleasant home, with all its ease and comforts, and emigrate to the Far West with a young lawyer, who had but little besides his profession to depend upon, and with him search out a new home, which it should be your joint duty to beautify, and make delightful and happy, like this?"

Dropping her head softly on his shoulder, she whispered: "I think I could, Archy." "Well," said he, "there's Tom Jones who's going to migrate, and wants to get a wife; I'll mention it to him."

BRAVO, BOB!—Tom is a bright little boy, and very much attached to his mother. The other day his father came home in a bad humor, and was scolding and finding fault with things generally. Little Tom sat and listened until he thought it necessary to interfere in behalf of his mother, when, looking up at his father, he said in a very decided tone, "If you do not like her ways, what did you marry her for?"

NOT DANGEROUS.—The servants in Cowell's Hotel, in New York, searched the house for incendiaries. In one bedroom they found a small box, with a black morocco cover, and at once set it down as an infernal machine. The police were put on the track of the young man who occupied the room, and he was arrested and only released from custody after much trouble by showing that his box was nothing more than a patent shaving apparatus.

The man who smoked in bed on his wedding night was sarcastically informed by his bride that "no gentleman ever lighted his cigar at the torch of Hymen."

Gov. Gilmore, of New Hampshire, has put four substitutes in the army.

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN
DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN TURBINE HAS many advantages over all other Wheels [illegible] bines and Overshot.

It has competed successfully with every variety of Wheel, and has always proved itself victorious.

This Wheel has been in use nearly Three Years in the States and HAS NEVER MADE A FAILURE.

It is CHEAPER than an Overshot, MORE DURABLE, and will YIELD A HIGHER PER CENT. OF POWER from the same quantity of water. We have introduced five on this coast. They are not all in operation yet, but will be in a few days. The following testimonial is from an old and experienced Mill-wright, well known in this State:

WESTPORT, CLATSOP CO., OREGON,
Nov. 19th, 1864.

MESSRS. LEFFEL & MYERS—Dear Sirs: We have plenty of water now, and your DOUBLE TURBINE is in successful operation. We are satisfied that your Wheel is fully equal, if not superior to the Overshot. With the same water that the Overshot uses, we can do more work with the Turbine than with the Overshot. I have tried many Wheels, which were claimed to be superior to an Overshot, but yours is the first I have found. Hence we do not hesitate to recommend the American Double Turbine as the most efficient economizer of water in our knowledge.
JOHN WEST & CO.

We desire all who want Wheels to visit the following named places and have ocular demonstration of the above facts:

John West & Co, Westport, Clatsop, County, Oregon;
Lewis Love, Vancouver, W. T.;
I. P. Lambing, Dalles City, [illegible];
Hampton Kelly, [illegible] east of Portland;
Savier & Co., Oregon City.
Dec. 2, 1864.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its importance as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS and GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

without a solvent. This considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page [illegible].)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body, is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.
